

ZACK MARSH GOES BACK TO STATE REFORMATORY.

Zack Marsh, who allowed himself to become implicated in the robbery of Mrs. Thos. O'Connell by helping his brother, Sam Marsh, spend some of the money which the latter had stolen, started at noon today for Jeffersonville where he will be forced to serve his former prison sentence. Zack had been paroled from prison after serving three years of a sentence for assault and battery with intent to kill "Beans" James.

J. S. Pernet, Assistant State Agent for the Southern prison, arrived here this morning and took Zack back. Pernet stated that although Zack denied knowing anything of the robbery, but he admitted going to Brazil to get beer for traveling men, who were stopping at the hotel in which he worked. This is a violation of his parole and it was for this violation that he was returned, although the prison official is confident that he knew all regarding the robbery.

Sam Marsh, who stole the money, is still in jail. He has confessed and been sentenced to prison. Sheriff Stroube has not yet decided when he will take him to Jeffersonville.

Harry Maxwell, the well known insurance man and vocalist, was a passenger on the steamship Majestic, which sailed from New York for Liverpool May 4, 1902. Captain Smith, who went down with the ill-fated Titanic, was captain of the Majestic on that trip and Mr. Maxwell became well acquainted with him during the voyage. Mr. Maxwell stated that during the seven days he was on the boat he took several walks along the deck with the captain and became as well acquainted with him as passengers usually become. Because of his acquaintance and friendship for the captain, the news of his death comes as sad news to Mr. Maxwell.

WILLIAM PRICE AND MISS ATHANE SMITH ANNOUNCE THEIR MARRIAGE—WELL KNOWN PEOPLE OF BRAZIL TODAY ANNOUNCE THAT THEY WERE MARRIED AT INDIANAPOLIS, NOV. 12.

STOLE MARCH ON FRIENDS

Miss Athane Smith, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Smith of North Franklin street, and William Price of Parke street, surprised their many friends today by the announcement of their marriage on the 12th day of November. The marriage occurred in Indianapolis, while attending the Illinois and Indiana football game.

After today Mr. and Mrs. Price will be at home to their friends at 403 North Franklin street.

The announcement is a surprise in this city, who give them credit for their clever ruse. The former Miss Smith was a student at DePauw University, where she was a member of the Alpha Chi Omega Sorority and is an accomplished musician. Mr. Price had been employed at the McCrea and Brown Co. now the Brown Hardware Company, for several years, and is a graduate of the Brazil high school. Miss Smith was in school at DePauw, when the marriage occurred—Brazil Times.

TO HOLD MEETING ON SATURDAY, APRIL 27TH.

The Putnam County Farmers' Club will hold its second monthly meeting in the Assembly Room of the Court House, Saturday, April 27 at 1:30 o'clock. The meeting will be limited to two hours, and all should be prompt in attendance. The last meeting was pronounced by those present to be a very valuable one. One very intelligent man declared it the best farmers' meeting ever held in Greencastle. The aim of the club is for good results. The coming meeting will be devoted to King Corn. The program is as follows:

"The Testing of Seed Corn Illustrated," J. B. Burris.
"Method of Corn Cultivation" Earl H. Ellis.

"Round Table Experiences With Corn Growing."

It being the purpose of the Club to gain knowledge through actual experiments, the program committee will from time to time make suggestions through the press of various tests recommended to be made. Any one whether a member of the Club or not is invited to make any experiment proposed or any other that he may desire, and make a record of what he does and the results he gets and make a report of the same to the Club. The hope of the Club is to lead in the matter of experimentation to secure knowledge. And while these experiments are not expected to be so scientific as those conducted at an experiment station, it is desirable that a good degree of exactness be secured. In the main this can be done with little expense or trouble. The greatest difficulty will be to secure definite data determining results in crops like wheat and oats.

The essential element of a test is comparison. To know the effects of a certain treatment, one must be able to compare it with like conditions of soil, season, seed, cultivation, etc., in an untreated plot. If one would know the effect of a fertilizer, he must not fertilize a whole field, but rather leave a strip of some width untreated. The check strips are essential to the test. Half the field could be treated and half untreated or any other desired proportion. It is not so much a matter of money or time as it is of intelligence and interest. Any man may know the possibilities and needs of his farm to quite a good degree of certainty in a few years of intelligent testing and observation. The man who learns how to get maximum returns from his land and yet pass it on to posterity better than he received it, shall leave the blessing promised to the one who "makes two blades of grass grow where one grew before."

It is not essential that all investigators pursue the same method. But when several who have similar conditions follow similar methods, the results approach more nearly a demonstration. Hence it is undesirable that as many as can do so conveniently shall adopt the same purpose and method. To aid in securing a good degree of uniformity, the Club through its special committee, will from time to time make some recommendations. And it would be well for each one who is interested in this work to file the papers concerning them or clip them out for future reference.

It will be well for each one who intends to make any of the experiments suggested to provide himself a blank book for recording his work. One with pages 7x9 or 18x11 would be better than a smaller page. On a page make as large a map of the field in which the experiment is to be made. Having accurately measured the field, place the area in one corner. If the field is sufficiently regular, record along the sides of the map the length and width in rods. This will be very convenient for reference. Draw lines across the map to show what is used for the test and record its length, width and area, the experiment and the year. If the space is sufficient here also may be recorded the treatment given, important facts, various weather conditions, the cultivation, the results, and other items that might be of future interest. It is worth while to do this with care, for you are writing a history of your farm that may be of great value in future years. It is well to have your fields numbered or named and on the page place the number or name for future reference.

WITHDRAWS THE CROSS COMPLAINT

ATTORNEY HANLY, REPRESENTING MRS. BLANCHE O'HAIR, SPRUNG SURPRISE IN COURT THIS MORNING—PLAINTIFF CLOSES HIS CASE AND DEFENSE BEGINS.

ATTEMPT A COMPROMISE

Ex-Governor Hanly, attorney for Mrs. Blanche O'Hair sprung a surprise in the O'Hair divorce suit this morning, when, after the attorneys for Mr. O'Hair had closed their case, announced to the court that he desired to withdraw the cross-complaint, filed by Mrs. O'Hair, asking for divorce and alimony. The attorney for Mrs. O'Hair did not give his reasons for withdrawing the complaint, but the general supposition is that the attorneys for Mrs. O'Hair believe that they will break down much of evidence introduced by O'Hair that the court will make a finding in her favor.

Following this announcement, which was near noon, another attempt to compromise the case was made during the noon hour. No agreement was reached, however. It is understood that Attorney Hanly asks that Mr. O'Hair give Mrs. O'Hair one-third of his estate, which would be approximately $35,000, as a compromise. Mr. O'Hair's attorneys, it is understood, will only agree to give Mrs. O'Hair a weekly allowance, during her life.

The direct examination of Mrs. O. C. Bowers, of Cleveland, Ohio, witness in the O'Hair divorce case, was resumed before Judge Rawley Friday morning. Mrs. Bowers told of the visit of Mr. and Mrs. O'Hair to their Cleveland home and of their return visit with Mr. and Mrs. O'Hair in Tampa, Florida. On the direct examination and the following cross-examination Mrs. Bowers developed little important evidence. Several times she admitted a lack of attention paid her by Mrs. O'Hair while she visited in Tampa.

In an effort to intercede for Mrs. O'Hair Mrs. Bowers asked her cousin, Bascom O'Hair to give his wife a weekly allowance. During the conversation Mr. O'Hair complained of the worthlessness of Mrs. O'Hair's sons and said that any allowance given Mrs. O'Hair would ultimately find its way into the hands of her sons. Mrs. O'Hair gained knowledge of the substance of the conversation and was angry because her husband had discussed the affairs of the family with Mrs. Bowers. Mrs. O'Hair displayed her anger so plainly that Mr. and Mrs. Bowers decided to leave the O'Hair home and occupy rooms in another house. Mrs. Bowers was physically unable to pack her clothes at this time, so she returned about a week later to get them. When she arrived at the O'Hair home, she alleges, her clothes and trunk were on the porch ready for her. Mrs. O'Hair was in the house at the time, but refused to come out, she claims. Her evidence was substantiated by her husband, who was on the stand later in the morning.

J. L. Randel, cashier of the Central National Bank of Greencastle was the next on the stand. Mr. Randel had the bank ledger with him. Evidence of deposits made by Mrs. O'Hair to her accounts and amounts withdrawn from Mr. O'Hair's account at corresponding times was next shown. Amounts ranging from $91 to $1551 credited to Mrs. O'Hair's account during the years 1905-6-7 and 8 were shown and withdrawals from Mr. O'Hair's account, several of which were identical in amount and date with Mrs. O'Hair's deposits were also shown.

Mr. Bowers during his testimony, said he was present when Mrs. O'Hair demanded $1,000 before she would sign the deed whereby the O'Hair orange grove was sold. He said that Mr. O'Hair at that time refused to give her the money, saying he was afraid it would be sent to his wife's sons.

Real Estate Men Testify.

Isaac S. Peck was the next witness. Mr. Peck testified that the value of the McLean block in 1905 was about $6,000. He said that the locating of the new postoffice building on the corner of Vine and Walnut streets and the building of the interurban station enhanced the value of the McLean property. Said he believed the property at the end of the year 1908 was worth $9,000. This is more than two thousand dollars less than Fred Goodwine paid Mr. O'Hair for it. William B. Vestal, the next witness, said the property in December, 1905, was worth about $6,000. On the 31st day of December, 1908, Mr. Vestal also testified that the value was about $9,000.

Mr. O'Hair was then placed on the stand for a few minutes. He testified he had a $1,200 mortgage on a piece of property owned by Fred Goodwine at the time he sold Mr. Goodwine the McLean property. He said he left the mortgage at the Central National Bank just prior to going on a Southern trip and that it was paid. In regard to the rent from the McLean block, Mr. O'Hair, on Wednesday stated that he had not received the rent, but that his wife had. Mr. Hanly this morning introduced in evidence an old bank book of Mr. O'Hair showing deposits made with an inscription "block rent" beside them. A deposit of $1,200 was also shown in the bank with the words "Wilson note" beside it. Mr. O'Hair yesterday said he did not collect the Wilson notes. When asked if the writing besides the figures was his, Mr. O'Hair said it looked like his, but that he did not know whether it was his or whether it was forged. All the explanatory entries in the book were in the same hand writing and apparently that of Mr. O'Hair. He testified, however, that he had not had possession of the books for many months. Although Mr. Hays objected again and again to allowing the entries to enter the records, Judge Rawley held against him. Numerous other entries with similar explanatory words beside them, were introduced as evidence. Court then adjourned for lunch. Charley Leutke was the first witness for the defense this afternoon.

The attorneys for Mrs. O'Hair, in the divorce suit now being tried in the Clay circuit court, believe that they greatly strengthened their demands for alimony Thursday in the cross-examination of Mr. O'Hair by Hanly, who is attorney for Mrs. O'Hair.

The cross-examination by Mr. Hanly was grueling and developed defects in the testimony Mr. O'Hair gave on direct examination. As Mr. O'Hair's memory is exceedingly poor, however, much of the testimony both in favor and against himself, will in reality matter little. He seemed very fair and was always willing to give the defense the benefit of the doubt. In few of his statements he showed a clear memory of the incident or happening. He was on the stand from early Thursday morning until after 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

The testimony following that given in Thursday's edition of this paper was in regard to the notices Mr. O'Hair had sent to Greencastle scores in which he warned them not to allow his wife to charge articles to his account. One note that was sent to the Allen Bros. Dry Goods store, was returned to Mrs. O'Hair by the store on the morning of January 5. It was on that morning Mrs. O'Hair met Mr. O'Hair at the top of the stairs, and as Mr. O'Hair alleges, struck him on the jaw with her clenched fist. He immediately left and consulted his attorney regarding divorce proceedings.

Mr. Hanly questioned the witness in respect to the paragraphs of his complaint, which were stricken out by Judge Rawley, one of them being the request for an annulment of the marriage. He asked Mr. O'Hair if he had authorized his attorneys to file this paragraph. Mr. O'Hair replied that he did not especially authorize them to file his complaint, but simply told them "to get him a divorce." An objection to this testimony was made by Mr. Hays, counsel for Mr. O'Hair, and Judge Rawley ordered it stricken from the record.

"here is your hat, take it with you." He says Mr. O'Hair said to him: "See how she treats me?—I'm getting mighty tired of it."

Mr. Hanly then asked Mr. O'Hair if he was a "damned old fool," as Mrs. O'Hair had called him. Mr. O'Hair said he made his wife the following answer when she called him the name: "Well, Blanche if I am a damned old fool, you should have sympathy for me and not treat me so cruelly." The remark was greeted by a titter from the crowd of spectators.

In regard to Mrs. O'Hair's divorce allegations that her husband gambled and played poker for money, Mr. O'Hair admitted that he had often played poker for small amounts, but that the games were for the purpose of pass time or pleasure and not with the thoughts or expectations of winning any large sum. He named several occasions where he had played cards. Mr. O'Hair denied an allegation by Mr. Hanly that his relatives had objected to his marriage to Mrs. O'Hair. He also denied that he was related to Judge Rawley's wife.

Two letters from a "Laura Fisher" formerly of Attica, were shown to Mr. O'Hair by the attorney for his wife. Mr. O'Hair admitted having received and answered the letters, which were dated at a time after his marriage. The attorneys for Mr. O'Hair objected to the question asked Mr. O'Hair by Mr. Hanly in regard to his relations with Laura Fisher, and the court sustained the objection. The contents of the letters were not read.

Then began the re-direct examination of Mr. O'Hair, pertaining to Mrs. O'Hair's claim of part ownership of the Florida Orange grove, for which was traded property in Indianapolis, was traded O'Hair said that the Indianapolis property was his, Mrs. O'Hair having deeded it to him when he paid a mortgage of $2,400, which Indianapolis persons held against it.

That he was afraid of catching a contagious disease and that he had no confidence in a drug fiend were causes assigned by Mr. O'Hair as to why he did not allow Dwight Goodwine to be moved to his home when the young man was ill. Greencastle druggists had informed Mr. O'Hair of the morphia habit of Goodwine, the witness declared.

Mrs. O. C. Bower, of Cleveland, Ohio, a cousin of Mr. O'Hair, was the next witness. It was Mrs. Bowers whom Mr. and Mrs. O'Hair visited in Cleveland and who, according to the complaint, Mrs. O'Hair insulted when Mr. and Mrs. Bowers were visiting at the O'Hair summer home in Florida. Mrs. Bowers had testified only a few minutes when Judge Rawley adjourned court.

Meetings Closed at High Tide.
The special meetings of little more than two weeks, conducted under the leadership of Pastor E. G. Shouse, closed last night with a fine audience and four united with the church.

The meetings are remarkable for their results, considering the very inactive state of the church for many years. The work, however, has taken on new life during the past year. There were twenty-four added to the church during the meeting, the majority of whom being men and young men. The pastor might have continued the meetings longer but the people have been attending revival services about a month at Locust Street M. E. church and the Baptist church, and it was thought best to close at least for the present; it is quite probable that Pastor Shouse will succeed in bringing one of the eminent evangelists of his denomination to take up the work where he left off, and if he comes, announcement will be duly made and the work would go right on doubtless after a rest of a week or two, but nothing definite can be given out just now. This is the evangelist the pastor has been trying to secure for a year. The church greatly appreciates the help given in the meetings by other churches of this city.

PLAN NEW "ELECTRIC RAIL"

Railroads and Steel Men Trying Hard to Find a Solution of Baffling Problem.

New York.—An open hearth steel rail finished by an electrical process being perfected by the United States Steel corporation is the chief present hope of the steel makers and railroad men, who are looking for a solution of the baffling rail problem. In the mills the new rail is known as the "electric rail," and a statement by one of the railroad presidents who attended the recent rail conference explains:

"If this electrical process does not contain the secret, then we shall have to rely on a rail heavier than that we have been using. We shall have to put in a hundred-pound rail at a cost of more than $30 a ton. At the conference with the steel men last week we demanded that more be cut off the ends of rails after they had been rolled and more cut off the ends of the ingots before they were rolled. The idea of this is to prevent air holes and other defects. The steel men were averse to this unless we consented to pay more for the product. However, in the end they agreed to make a concession and to cut off a little more from the ends, although they declined to go as far as we asked at the present price, which we think ample.

"Unless this electric rail solves the problem, my belief is we shall have to put in a heavier rail if we want it as hard as those now in use. If not, we shall have to use a softer one, which will wear out in half the time."

OMELETS IN PAPER BAG.

The process of folding an omelet is solved when cooked in a paper bag, as the bag is well greased and the egg mixture poured in and the bag laid on the rack; in five minutes lower the heat a little and cook fifteen minutes.

Any variation may be made, adding chopped chicken, ham, parsley or fruits, as desired. When the omelet is cooked in a paper bag it is well to carry it, bag and all, on a platter to the table, and serve from the bag.

A Plain Omelet.—Beat very light three eggs, separating the yolks from the whites. Add to the yolks a tablespoonful of flour. Melt a teaspoonful of baking powder and a quarter of a teaspoonful of salt. Melt a tablespoonful of butter in a pint of milk; beat it gradually into the yolks. The milk must be hot; then fold in the stiff-beaten whites of the eggs. Pour into a buttered bag and bake fifteen minutes.

Chicken Omelet.—When preparing the omelet and using chicken, add a little more flour to the eggs, then just before putting into the bag fold in a cupful of minced chicken, seasoned with onion juice or celery. For ham omelet leave out half the amount of flour, and if the ham is salt, all of the salt. Water may be used instead of milk, adding more butter. Grind the ham and season to taste with a pinch of sugar. Put the ham in before folding in the whites. Mix and cook fifteen minutes in a well-buttered bag in a hot oven at first.

Spanish Omelet.—Chop very fine one stalk of celery, a green pepper scalded in boiling water, one small onion, one large tomato, salt, pepper and a dash of Worcestershire sauce. Mix well and cook until tender in a little butter. Make a six-egg omelet for this amount of seasoning, and cook as above.

An omelet is a dish that may be served at any meal, and is especially good for breakfast and luncheon dish.

A STUDY OF DESSERTS.

There are about seven types of desserts and all varieties come under one of the types. By changing the flavor one may have a variety of desserts with little study in preparation. Monotony is the one bugbear of every cook. If a certain kind of pudding is served once a month, there will never be an occasion to tire of the same.

A custard is one type which may be varied by different flavors, browning the sugar makes a delicious flavoring for a custard. Melt the sugar after browning by adding the silk; stir until dissolved, then beat in the eggs and put to bake in hot water. A grating of nutmeg or vanilla is good flavoring for a baked custard.

Bread puddings are another type, and may be varied in flavor by the addition of fresh or dried fruit, spices or chocolate. The foundation for all such puddings is the same: a pint of milk, two eggs, a cup of bread cut in cubes and a half cup of sugar. Stir occasionally while cooking, flavor with chocolate, a square or two, and serve with cream.

The steamed pudding is another type. This may be a simple batter and fresh fruits may be added in layers and steamed; if in cups fifteen to twenty minutes; if in a larger mold the time for steaming will be longer. The sauce for a plain pudding with fresh fruit is always cream, but when spice, chocolate and other flavors are used the following sauce is better: Take two eggs, separate the whites from the yolks, and beat well. Add a fourth of a cup of sugar and vanilla to taste. Serve uncooked, mixing the whites lightly, not to lose the air beaten in.

A dish of peaches or pears with bread and butter is a good dessert, but when one wants to piece out the can of peaches and make them serve more, a dessert called Peach Snow-drift may be served, which may be served with whipped cream and the juice of the peaches. Cook together a cup of milk, two tablespoonfuls of flour; cool and fold in the whites of four eggs beaten stiff. Pour over peaches or pears and serve from the dish.

NEATNESS IN THE SICK ROOM

Surroundings, and All Food Served to Invalids, Should Be of the Daintiest.

Every one knows that neatness in serving adds greatly to the appetizing quality of food and this is especially true when it is offered to an invalid. The daintiest china, the prettiest glass and silverware, the most immaculate linen should grace the tray that is sent to the sick room. Hot food should be served very hot and cold food very cold; lukewarm food is unpalatable and in a delicate stomach may produce nausea. When serving hot beverages or food it is well to have the cups or plates heated beforehand so the heat of the foods will be longer preserved. Milk and butter should be kept cool and well covered. Greasy food is objectionable to sick people and broths should not be offered until the greasy portion has been eliminated. It is a good plan to prepare the broth a day before it is needed and let it stand overnight. In the morning the grease will have risen to the top in a solid cake, which can easily be removed. This, of course, is the most thorough way, but when it is more convenient to prepare it shortly before serving, a bit of blotting paper or a crust of bread skimmed lightly over the top will absorb the grease. Light nourishment should be kept on hand during the night—often a cup of hot cocoa or bouillon given to a restless patient has a soothing effect and is a promoter of sleep.

Tinting Rooms.

A woman who has the leisure can tint a wall at very little expense. The brush—an ordinary whitewash brush of good quality—costs about $1. A tin pail is needed for mixing the tint, and the mixing itself is not at all difficult. Preparations of various kinds come in a large range of colors; the powder needs only to be mixed with water to the right consistency.

The preparation can often be put on satisfactorily over a wallpaper if it is not torn or badly defaced. Of course, a little practice enables one to do the tinting more evenly, but even a novice who is careful has no cause to be ashamed of her efforts.

Kid Petticoats.

A new petticoat has been invented for motor wear, which is very practical and warm and takes up little room. This is of smooth kid neatly fitting over the hips and carried out in white or any pale shade. By way of trimming it has button-holed and scalloped edges, or, for those who prefer it, a deep hem of satin to match.

FOR THE HAIR.

Family heirlooms in the way of old-fashioned brooches or cameos will make exquisite hair ornaments. For instance, a pink cameo may fasten a bandeau of pink metallic ribbon. Or a lapis lazuli brooch and earrings that match may ornament a bandeau made of king's blue tulle. Pearl brooches and earrings look well on a velvet band of any color.

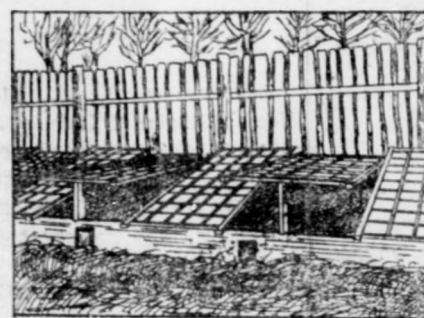

VENTILATE HOT-BED FRAMES

Temperature Carried Depends Greatly on Crop Being Grown—Prevent Plants Becoming "Drawn."

By W. R. BEATTIE.)

The temperature at which the air of hotbeds should be carried will depend entirely upon the crop being grown. Thermometers should be placed at intervals in the beds, as it is not safe to judge the temperature by personal sensation. If lettuce, parsley, or radishes are growing in the beds, the temperature should not go above 70 degrees F. before ventilation is given; on the other hand, if the frames are filled with cucumbers, egg-plants, or peppers, the temperature may run 8 to 10 degrees higher.

It should be borne in mind that any covering, whether cloth or sash, will exclude a part of the light, and every precaution is necessary to prevent the plants becoming "drawn." The safest plan is to keep the temperature a trifle low and thus retain the plants in a strong, thrifty condition. Where tender plants are being grown under cloth there is greater danger of injury from keeping them covered too tightly than from exposure to moderate cold.

In the case of cloth-covered frames the covers are left off during bright weather and the plants subjected to open-air conditions. When there is danger of cold the covers are put on at night, and during unfavorable weather they are frequently left on during the day. While the cloth covers conserve the heat, they at the same time exclude the sunlight, and if they are kept on too great a portion of the time the crops will become drawn and spindling.

An exacting art jury, which has rejected about one-half of the pieces of work submitted for the coming fifth annual exhibition of the works of Indiana artists has practically completed its labors, and the exhibition will be ready for the public at the Herron Art Institute next Sunday. It will not be so large as former exhibitions, but is expected to show a gain in quality because of the process of elimination. The severity of judgment, it was said, was greater with the artists who have exhibited often than with the younger artists, and there was also hospitality toward those who are trying for new things, so the exhibition will not be lacking in younger blood and the latest kind of efforts in art.—Indianapolis News.—Among those exhibiting paintings or drawings is Mrs. Emma M. Weaver, of this city.

Raising Squash.

A man who raised a 300-pound squash says he did it by the following method. Two wheelbarrow loads of old hen manure was mixed with the soil in the hill, being put in quite deep and over a wide area. Then only one plant was allowed to remain in the hill, and only one specimen of fruit was allowed to remain on that plant.

EXPRESSION IN MODERN HAND

Denotes Thoughtfulness to the Observer, as Well as Some of the New Virtues.

There is no doubt that the expression of the hand in higher civilized races has changed, in a hundred years, said an observant woman the other day, quite as much as that of the face. "The perfect hand of the painter," says Richard Pryce in his novel, "Christopher," "the Hand Beautiful of convention, lacked subtleties." Now these subtleties may be perceived any night at any dinner table where Superior Persons are gathered together. The modern hand is a thoughtful hand, and makes use of gestures which denote the new virtues of pity and altruism, as well as an extraordinary feeling for the arts, especially that of music. If you took an audience at one of the classical concerts and examined their hands, you would hardly find one of the old, blunt, square-fingered, brutal type among them. Sir Henry Irving had beautiful and essentially "modern hands," and he used them with extraordinary effect in his acting. How often one would look at his hands instead of his face in some great scene—so expressive were they of his emotions. In medieval times only saints and martyrs possessed the kind of a hand which you see nowadays belonging to a high school teacher or a celebrated physician. Yet Mr. Pryce's heroine believes her intellectual hands. She is an ardent coquette, and, in spite of her superlative and modern emotions, contrives to treat the hero very shabbily. These modern hands, with all their subtleties, are therefore not to be trusted. Indeed, their very complexities are a snare to the unwary observer.

NEVER FIGHT WITH BURGLAR

Upset a Chair and Frighten Him Away—That is the Advice of a City Policeman.

"Don't ever 'hunt' a burglar. Make a noise and frighten him away. Upset a chair or slam a door.

"Almost all burglars carry revolvers of the finest kind. A 'pete man' or safe blower, the most dangerous kind of criminal, usually carries an automatic revolver, as it gives the quickest action.

"Every householder should have a weapon in the house, but he should never use it unless to save his life.

"It is the inexperienced man whose use of the revolver makes it dangerous.

"A professional or expert burglar will never shoot unless to avoid capture. A safe blower will shoot at a policeman or any intruder, as for them capture means a long term in prison."

Special Officer Edward Brophy, an expert, made these statements, says the Pittsburgh Post. It is only on the very rarest occasions that he can be induced to talk about himself, but it is a fact that he is a crack shot with a pistol. He has made a study of weapons, and has a collection of them at his home ranging from little "baby hammerless" revolvers to huge Winchester rifles, a shot from which will move a heavy safe. He has always been interested in guns, and has taken special pains to learn about the guns burglars and other criminals carry.

School Land Ship.

One of the features of their public school training which the boys of Berlin, Germany, enjoy most is the "land ship," on which young sailors go through a regular daily training. The lit is the name of the land ship which has been built and which has a crew of 120 boys. The larger boys act as officers. When they are at work on the land ship the boys dress in mid-dy blouses and caps. There is gun practice on the land ship every day, and a naval drill, and all the usual work of a ship is done by the boys. They have the greatest fun in climbing the spars and hoisting the sails, and life on the lit is so popular that there are always more applicants for the crew than there are places to be filled.

Value of Good Manners.

The woman who amounts to anything these days must have good manners. There are exceptions, but the woman who would make friends for herself or business for her firm will have a lot easier time and be more successful if she has acquired personal charm. An unfortunate manner neutralizes the good a woman does. The capable woman need not grow slack in her work because she leads, not drives; because she is soft of voice, suave of tongue, kindly of heart, and gracious to all. The reason most of the women are otherwise than suave is that the turmoil of life gets the upper hand. They let their nerves go and good breeding follows.

Honor Utterer of Epigrams.

The Japanese are great admirers of epigrams and apt phrases. Their love of such things is carried so far that when a guest says something unusually brilliant the host or hostess will beg him to write down his remark in large ornamental script. The sentence is then mounted and hung on the wall as a permanent addition to its ornaments, much as we might hang up a text or motto. Naturally the author of a bon mot treated in this way feels himself highly honored to be thus placed on record. But the sentences are selected more for their wisdom than their humor; so that the funny man is not much in evidence.

NOTE IS MAN'S DOOM

Husband Out of Work Forges Wife's Name to Check.

Banker Goes to Her Aid and Writes to Offer Position, But Woman's Spouse, Fearing Prosecution, Ends Life.

Chicago.—Receipt of a letter by a Chicago man recently, a letter which should have brought employment and happiness, caused the man who received it to commit suicide. The strange story of how her husband, who had long been out of work, took his life upon the receipt of a letter which meant the offer of a job and future comfort is told by the suicide's widow.

"My husband, after being long despondent over sickness and his inability to obtain a position, in a moment of weakness took my bank book, which recorded a small amount of deposit, and forged my name to a check for $12. I know that he used the money in an endeavor to find employment and that he would have paid it back to me, but fate willed differently," said the widow, sadly.

"I discovered the forgery accidentally when I went to the bank a few days later.

"I was ushered into the president's office and told him my story. I explained to him that my husband had always been hard working and honest and had never before committed an offense of any kind before, but that he had been despondent because of his inability to find work. The banker seemed touched by my story and treated me with the utmost kindness.

"I do not feel," said the bank official, "that this is a case for the courts, it seems that perhaps your husband has been more or less a victim of circumstances, and I think that if he is given a chance he will be an honest man henceforth. So strongly do I believe this that I will show your husband that every man's hand is not against him. I am going to have him call upon me and I will give him a position in the bank as a porter, and if he does well I will make him a watchman. I will write a letter to him at once."

"The bank president wrote a letter simply asking my husband to come and see him. I went out to do some work and did not return home until evening. The letter had reached my husband in the afternoon at home. I suppose that since the letter did not speak of a position, and as my husband was conscious that he was guilty of the forgery, he became crazed with the thought that his act had been discovered at the bank and that the letter telling him to call meant that he would soon be in the clutches of the law.

"I suppose the terror of his position drove him insane, for he went into a shed on the rear of our lot and killed himself by hanging. The letter, taken out of the envelope, was in his coat pocket, a mute witness of the cause of his self-destruction. I found his body later in the evening when I went to the shed and was almost crazed with grief, the sudden changes from despair and fear to joy and then again to horror and anguish being more than I could bear.

SAYS RINGS BELONG TO GIRL

Given in Token of Betrothal, She Need Not Marry to Keep Them, Rules a Pennsylvania Judge.

Blairville, Pa.—A girl owns her engagement rings, whether or not they lead to her marrying the donor. So rules Justice Gelb of this place.

Miss Josephine Graham and Charles Vachal, both of Saltburg, became engaged to be married two years ago. Vachal presented a diamond ring to his fiancée, following this with another ring later.

Vachal some time ago told her of a circumstance that temporarily would prevent their marriage, and asked for the rings, promising to return them at her request, as she did not consider the engagement broken. Miss Graham later requested the return of the rings, but Vachal is alleged to have refused them.

Suit for their recovery was brought by the girl. At the hearing before Justice Gelb the rings were returned to the young woman and Vachal paid the costs of the suit.

Western Man Writes to Aunt in East, Using Forty-Two Sheets of Paper for Messages.

Walla Walla, Wash.—When Mrs. F. J. Lapointe of Hudson, Mass., wrote and chided her nephew, Ralph Hodge, a telegraph operator of this city, for neglect in writing to his aunt, she did not anticipate the literary avalanche that her words were destined to precipitate.

When his aunt wrote to him it had been 11 years since she had seen him, he being a small boy at that time. The letter was sent by express.

Constipation, if Neglected, Causes Serious Illness

Constipation, if neglected, leads to almost innumerable complications affecting the general health. Many cases of typhoid fever, appendicitis and other severe diseases are traceable to prolonged clogging of the bowels. Regarding the effects of constipation, C. E. Ayers, 6 Sabin St., Montpelier, Vt., says: "I was afflicted with constipation and biliousness for years, and at times became so bad I would become unconscious. I have been found in that condition many times. Physicians did not seem to be able to do me any good. I would become weak and for days at a time could do no work. Not long ago I got a box of Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, and after using them found I had never tried anything that acted in such a mild and effective manner. I believe I have at last found the remedy that suits my case."

Thousands of people are sufferers from habitual constipation and while possibly realizing something of the danger of this condition, yet neglect too long to employ proper curative measures until serious illness often results. The advice of all physicians is, "keep your bowels clean," and it's good advice. Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 25 cents a box containing 25 doses. If not found satisfactory, your money is returned. MILES MEDICAL CO., Elkhart, Ind.

single field, you may prefer to make a map of your entire farm so that you can record on it the crop in each field each year and the results. Such a record is a source of great satisfaction. If there is not room on the map to make all the record desired, this can be written on the page facing the map in as much detail as may be desired.

Special suggestions

Oat test with fertilizer. Record the character of the soil, preparation given, kind and amount of fertilizer used, when and how applied, amount of seed per acre, weather condition at various dates, accurate returns per acre from treated and from untreated portion. It will require some care at time of threshing to keep the parts separate, but it is worth while to do so to a good degree.

Oats test of thick and thin sowing—Record amount of seed per acre in each portion, appearance at different stages, weather conditions results in bushels, quality of oats, etc.

The value of lime—Much land in Putnam county has grown acid through long cropping and needs lime to make it sweet. One farmer made the test with litmus paper at seventeen points on his farm and found the soil acid in sixteen of these places. The litmus paper test is not a complete one, but it suggests that experiments should be made.

To determine the need use a strip of any desired size and treat it with from two to five tons per acre of ground limestone. The lime from Putnam county quarries is very rich in carbonate and can be got at only 70 cents per ton. The screenings are better than the fine flour and the unburned better than the burned. Record the amount used, how scattered, whether before or after plowing, difference in appearance at various dates, and approximate results. Lime will not likely leave much effect on corn or oats. But upon wheat and legumer it will be profitable if the soil needs it. To use it upon oats or wheat to secure a good stand and crop of legumer is the practice advised.

The program committee will be pleased to have a note from all who are making any of these similar demonstrations and will also try to answer any question referred to them.

Alec Lockridge has sold to R. Earl Durham a 71-acre tract of bottom land just south of the north-west Big Walnut bridge. The land is exceedingly fine corn land. T. C. Grooms, in talking of the transaction, stated that the land was first broken for cultivation about 1878 and the first crop of corn was exceedingly fine. Mr. Grooms took one stalk of the corn grown on the land to a corn show held in the Board of Trade building in Indianapolis and it was judged the finest stalk there. The stalk measured 17 feet long.

A fire which started from spontaneous combustion, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Arnold on East Seminary street at 9:30 o'clock this morning, might have resulted seriously, had not Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Tilden, who were driving past the house, happened to stop in. Mrs. Arnold had started down town and there was no one at the home. Mr. Tilden as he drove onto the driveway noticed smoke coming from the rear windows and doors. When he got into the house it was filled with smoke. A large bucket filled with oily rags, which was hanging in the inside cellar way, had taken fire and the workwork already had taken fire. A few buckets of water extinguished the flames. When the firemen arrived there was no work for them to do. Had Mr. and Mrs. Tilden not gone to the house just when they did the fire might have not been discovered for some time and the result probably would have been a serious loss.

Trees Along the Fences.

Along the farmers' fences throughout the State the birds, squirrels and the wind have planted trees, many are planted by these agents, but few are permitted to stand. The species most commonly found are walnut, wild cherry, ash, maple and elm.

Most of these, if cared for, would grow into valuable trees, but as generally found they show that they have been browsed, pruned with an ax or not at all, and with a trunk too short to make a twelve-foot log. Tall trees are more valuable and it costs less to grow them along the fence. They should be pruned up and not be permitted to form a fork until the height of a good length sawlog is reached. When the top of the tree is high the shade is so widely distributed that it has little effect on the adjacent crop.

Trees along the fences add beauty to the surroundings. They attract our birds and often serve as a retreat from the storm and birds of prey.

The workman in the field welcomes them as a place where he and his horses can enjoy their shade and the cool breezes.

Stock of all kinds in the field will seek the shelter offered by a tree from the hot ray of the sun and from storms. It is true that occasionally an animal is killed by lightning under a tree, but during a storm animals first seek trees and if there are none, they will huddle closely up against a fence, and more animals are killed along fences than under trees.

Some farmers purposely leave a few trees along the fence in each field. This practice, as well as the planting of trees along the roadside, is to be encouraged.

Notice to the Public.

The time to keep the streets, alleys and sidewalks clean is all the time, when the weather conditions permit. Therefore the public is reminded that the city ordinance strictly prohibits the throwing or deposits of ashes, rubbish, a refuse of any kind on the streets, alleys and sidewalks under penalty. The ordinance also requires all property owners or occupants to promptly remove all ashes, rubbish, or refuse of any kind that may be thrown or deposited upon the streets, alleys, or sidewalks immediately in front of or along their properties, whether thrown or deposited by themselves or any person or persons, and provides a penalty for failure in doing so.

The city marshal is directed to see that the provisions of said ordinance are complied with.

The Fourth Special Service.

The fourth prayer service of the series for the promotion of Sabbath Observance was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Professor KleinSmid. The music being under her direction, was inspiring.

Miss Kathleen Campbell added greatly to the interest of the meeting by her solo singing.

The theme for the afternoon was, "The Substitution of the Christian for the Jewish Sabbath." A brief reference was made to the institution of the Jewish Day of Rest, and to the reverence given by our Savior to the divine commands concerning its observance, while He utterly disregarded the traditional and unreasonable exactions which burdened it His time.

Concerning the substitution of the First for the Seventh day of the week as a Day of Rest, the following reasons were presented. The Resurrection of Jesus occurring the first day of the week, His followers thereafter celebrated it as the "Lord's Day."

Jesus appeared five times on the Resurrection Day to His disciples and one week later to His apostles assembled together.

The outpouring of the Christ upon the one hundred and twenty worshipers assembled in Jerusalem, occurred on the first day of the week, as in that year the day of Pentecost fell upon that day.

From the writings of St. Paul we learn of the recognition and observance of the Lord's Day as a Day of Worship. St. John, the Evangelist received his Revelation concerning the churches of the "Lord's Day."

According to the principal writers of the two centuries after St. John it has been discovered "that the Lord's Day existed" from the beginning of the Christian Era, "as a part and parcel of apostolical and so of Scriptural Christianity."

"Desperado" Released.

Mistaken for a real "desperado" by a frightened train crew while "beating" his way home on a freight train from Greencastle, Fred L. Cowan, son of E. Cowan, the farmer, has been freed at Greencastle of a charge of attempted hold-up and was with his father in Terre Haute Tuesday.

Young Cowan, according to the father, had been in Indianapolis looking for work and decided to ride home on a "free ticket." He was discovered by members of the crew after four or five others had boarded the train several cars back of him, and of whom he knew nothing. Frightened by previous attempted hold-ups, the trainmen, without investigation, telegraphed to Greencastle that several "heavily armed and desperate characters" were aboard.

Officers met the train and took the "desperadoes" into custody, but upon searching them failed to find any weapons or any indication of an attempted hold-up.

Cowan's father went to Greencastle, putting up $100 bond for him last Friday and Monday they were back for the trial, when the case of all arrested were dismissed—Terre Haute Post.

Instead of being released Cowan was fined $15 on a charge of vagrancy. He paid the fine.

If there is an unsanitary condition near you report it to the Civic League. The case will be carried to the Board of Health and investigated.

E. B. Lynch is closing out his furniture stock at greatly reduced prices. Don't fail to take advantage of this great money-saving sale.
